MAKZO'S

BRAND GUIDELINES

Identity. Voice. Everyday application.

Nothing artificial. Nothing unnecessary.

A guide for making MAKZO'S work

Use this book when designing packs, writing copy, building pages or preparing a campaign.

01	Brand and voice	03-09
02	Logo system	10-15
03	Colour system	16-20
04	Typography	21-24
05	Images and layouts	25-28
06	Brand in use	29-35
07	Production and handover	36-39
08	Expanded type and mockups	40-56

ONE RECOGNISABLE BRAND.

Keep the supplied logo intact. Use Paprika Orange consistently. Give flavour stories room to be seen.

The expanded section adds full font specimens, realistic print applications and campaign layouts. Use its examples alongside the core rules.

The brand in one page

FAMILIAR DISHES. A DIFFERENT CRUNCH.

THE IDEA

Roasted makhana, flavoured around dishes people recognise.

POSITIONING

The makhana snack made in Indian flavours, with clean ingredients.

PURPOSE

Bring recognisable dish flavours into everyday snacking, with ingredients people can understand.

BRAND PROMISE

Every pack tastes like a recognisable dish and contains nothing we would not explain.

Lead with Indian flavours and real dishes. Clean ingredients support the story; health is never the lead message.

Two audiences. One voice.

Write primarily to the Switcher. Make the brand equally welcoming to the Host.

PRIMARY

THE SWITCHER

25-30 Tier-1 cities

INR 10-15 lakh / year

Looking for a better alternative to chips. Taste needs to make the switch worthwhile.

FLAVOUR FIT

Rasam Podi, Chettinadu, Curry Leaves

SECONDARY

THE HOST

30-40 Tier-1 cities

INR 12-30 lakh / year

Buying snacks for family and guests; also influences corporate events and gifting.

FLAVOUR FIT

Mac & Cheese, Sweet Tamarind, Tiramisu

Audience flavour fit is strategic guidance. Launch availability is controlled separately; see page 37.

Where the brand meets people

LAUNCH SEQUENCE

01
HYDERABAD

02
BENGALURU

01

Everyday breaks

Office breaks, evenings with friends and a snack alongside a meal. Show a recognisable moment and an appetising dish.

02

Sharing occasions

Family snacking, parties and get-togethers. Keep people and households varied; buying for a family is not gender-specific.

03

Events and gifting

Use a clear flavour assortment, a visible full logo and straightforward descriptions. Avoid making up bulk prices or service promises.

04

Context matters

Gym scenes may appear without protein, energy or performance claims. Alcohol must not appear in paid advertising.

Bold in flavour. Warm with people.

An Explorer with a Rebel streak: curious about flavour, confident in its point of view and easy to approach.

Friendly

Approachable layouts. Real interaction. Inclusive copy.

Playful

Light humour with a point. Food with movement and appetite.

Modern

Clean layouts and plain language. Avoid visual clutter.

Premium

Space, restraint and quality imagery. No bargain-store noise.

VALUES IN PRACTICE

Transparency and honesty

Make ingredients easy to find.

Ownership

State promises and fixes clearly.

Original and authentic

Show the actual dish behind a flavour.

Progressive

Avoid guilt, body-image cues and stereotypes.

Use the Rebel streak in launch ideas, not as everyday aggression. Never name or show competitor brands.

The way we sound

The voice stays consistent. Five qualities guide every piece of copy.

BOLD	Say one clear thing. Rasam. On makhana. Yes, really.	Avoid inflated claims and shouting.
WARM	Speak to one person. Something for your next snack break.	Avoid baby talk and over-familiarity.
WITTY	Use light humour. Worth making room for.	Avoid sarcasm and jokes at someone's expense.
CURIOUS	Follow the flavour. Start with the dish. Discover the crunch.	Avoid invented history and long lectures.
STRAIGHT-TALKING	Use plain words. Here is the full ingredient list.	Avoid vague health language.

Adjust the tone to the moment

Illustrative copy below shows the same voice at different levels of energy and detail.

CAMPAIGN

Confident and brief

Real dishes. New crunch.

One thought, one appetising visual, one action.

SOCIAL

Playful and conversational

Rasam. On makhana. Yes, really.

Let the dish name do some of the work.

PRODUCT PAGE

Specific and helpful

Sweet Tamarind

INGREDIENT PAGE

Factual and open

No preservatives.
Here is the full ingredient list.

Use only brand-approved, product-verified claims.

CUSTOMER SUPPORT

Calm and accountable

We're sorry this arrived damaged. Please share your order number so we can help.

State the next step. Do not invent a refund promise.

EVENT OR GIFTING

Warm and practical

A flavour for every person at the table.

Describe the assortment and confirm availability.

Write clearly. Claim carefully.

WRITING RULES

- Use English in national communication. Regional languages belong in local, city-specific campaigns.
- Write Makzo's with the apostrophe. Use the supplied artwork whenever displaying the logo.
- Use sentence case in prose. Keep sentences short. Put the dish name first.
- Use real numbers or none. Do not invent customer quotes, recipes or heritage.
- End with a useful action: try, explore flavours, build a box or reorder.

BRIEF-APPROVED CLAIMS

- No preservatives.
- No artificial colours or flavours.
- No INS-coded additives.
- Made with makhana.
- Vegetarian is pending confirmation in the supplied brief. Do not treat it as cleared.

DO NOT USE

- No MSG; vegan or 100% plant-based; gluten-free; Jain-friendly.
- High protein; low fat; low calorie; low cholesterol.
- Guilt-free; cheat day; superfood; pre-workout or energy food.
- Tasty and healthy as a paired lead message.
- Any new claim without founder review.

Allergens: show the approved SKU allergen statement and shared-production-line statement. Milk, groundnut and soya are present across the range.

02 / IDENTITY

THE CRUNCH IS OUR SIGNATURE.

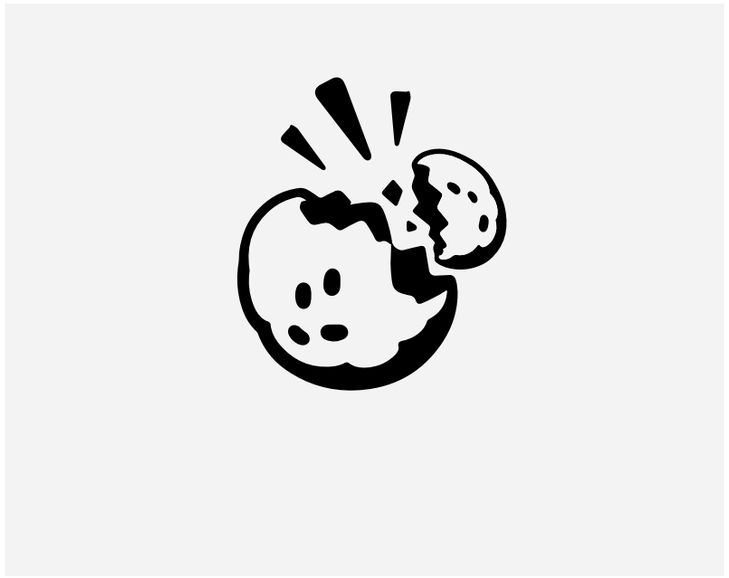
MAKZO'S

Two assets. Two jobs.

Both versions come from the same supplied artwork. Neither is a font to be retyped.

FULL LOGO / DEFAULT

Complete MAKZO'S wordmark with the broken makhana in place of the O. Use for first introductions, pack fronts, page headers and advertising.



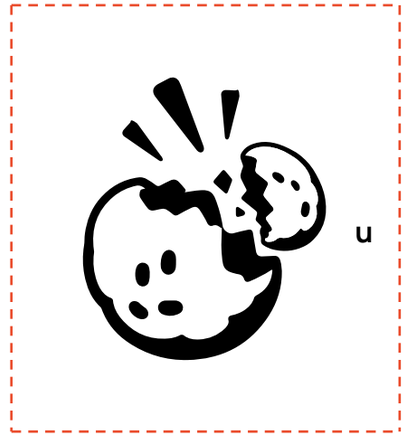
LOGO MARK / COMPACT

Only the broken makhana, fragments and burst. No letters, apostrophe or S. Use for avatars, repeat details and compact brand cues.

Give the logo breathing room

Use u as a repeatable unit: one quarter of the complete logo mark's height, including its burst.

Keep text, photographs, borders, folds and trim edges outside the clear-space area. More space is welcome.



Measure from the highest burst and the furthest fragment, not only the round part of the makhana.

Keep the small details visible

Minimum sizes are starting standards for new artwork. Test the final material and the actual screen size.

160 px

Digital minimum width

35 mm

Print minimum width

Use the full logo wherever the name must be read. Scale it proportionally, including the burst and apostrophe.

40 px

Digital minimum width

12 mm

Print minimum width

Use the mark in compact spaces. Do not remove fragments to force it smaller; test a dedicated export at its final display size.

Diagrams are enlarged for inspection, not a print-size ruler. For embroidery, foil or engraving, prove the smallest detail before production.

Approved logo colour combinations

Use a single-colour logo on a clear, flat field. Black on Paprika Orange is the default brand combination.

Default: black on Paprika

Black on white

White on black

Paprika on black

White on Paprika: large use

Paprika on white: large use

White/orange combinations lose fine detail sooner. Keep small supporting copy black on orange, or black on white.

Keep the artwork intact

The original silhouette, spacing, proportions and makhana details are fixed.

Do not stretch

Do not rotate

Do not split the colours

Do not add a shadow

Do not crop the burst

Do not retype the logo

Also avoid outlines, gradients, extra effects, substituted O letters, detached letters and unapproved lockups.

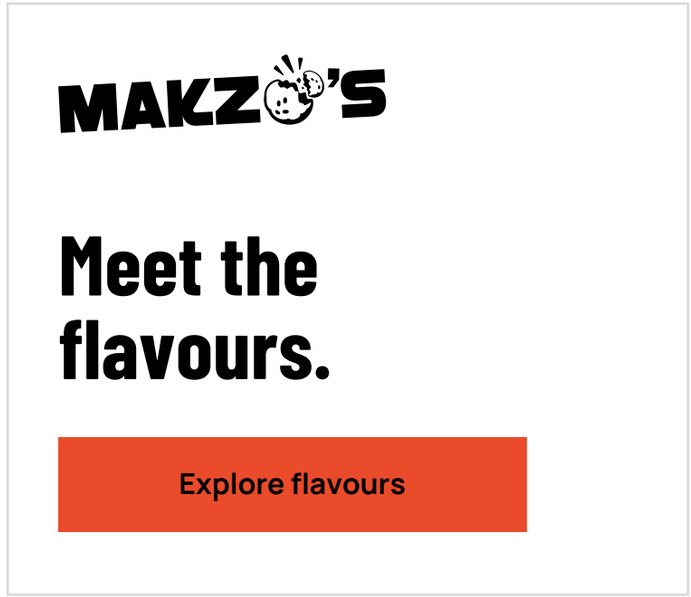
Use colour with a clear job

Paprika identifies the brand. White gives content space. Black anchors type, controls and contrast.

BRAND FIRST

Use a large orange field for a launch, section opener or bold brand moment.



CONTENT FIRST

Use white for reading and shopping. Repeat orange in key controls and brand details.

COMPACT BRAND CUE

Use black with a clear mark for merchandise, sleeves and small branded surfaces.

Colour must stay readable

Ratios below use the exact digital colours on flat, opaque backgrounds.

Digital text baseline: 4.5:1 for normal text; 3:1 for large text (18 pt regular or 14 pt bold). Logo treatment needs its own fine-detail check. These ratios do not certify print. Source: W3C, listed on page 39.

Flavour colours have a separate role

Keep the brand Paprika Orange. Use the flavour field to distinguish products and connect to the dish.

Use flavour colour in product cards, flavour labels and the lower pack field. Do not recolour the core logo to match each SKU.

Keep Indian and international flavours in the same identity system. Tiramisu should still look like MAKZO'S.

Flavour HEX values are visual reference samples from the supplied artwork, not approved print masters. Match production to the original pack files. Brand Paprika #EA4B2B is fixed.

04 / TYPOGRAPHY

Body line height: 1.4-1.6. Headline line height: 0.95-1.10. Aim for 45-75 characters per line of continuous prose.

Use short all-caps display headlines. Use sentence case for paragraphs, navigation, descriptions and longer headings.

Type should make the choice easier

FLAVOUR FIRST

SWEET TAMARIND

Made for your next snack break.

Explore the flavour

01

One headline

Keep the display line short. Do not make every line equally large or equally bold.

02

A readable explanation

Use Manrope for the flavour description, ingredient information, controls and small detail.

03

A clear action

Give the button enough space. Use a verb people understand. Avoid decorative scripts and fake bold.

Existing pack lettering stays as supplied artwork. Apply this type system to new digital and collateral work; revise pack typography only in a controlled artwork update.

Let the dish carry the colour

A monochrome scene with the key food or ingredient in colour is the signature storytelling treatment.

A moment of sharing

People and setting support the flavour story.

A recognisable dish

The food should look appetising and believable.

A sense of occasion

Light, texture and scale make the scene feel natural.

Use the supplied visuals as style references. Do not describe staged or generated scenes as documentary photographs or historic evidence.

Frame the story with care

01 Protect the food

Keep the entire key dish or ingredient recognisable. Do not crop away the reason for the flavour.

02 Make room for type

Choose a crop with quiet space or use a separate solid panel. Avoid text on faces, hands or food.

03 Keep colour selective

Retain colour only where it tells the flavour story. Avoid neon grading, random coloured props and collage edges.

04 Keep it truthful

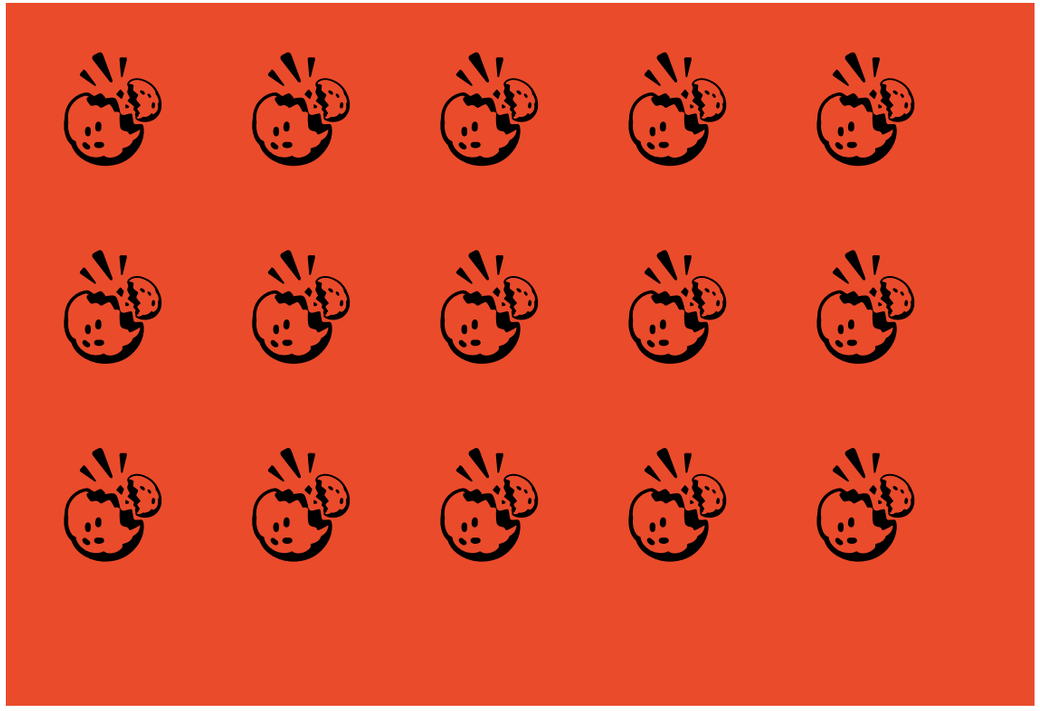
Match the advertised flavour. Do not invent a place, ingredient, recipe or cultural heritage to fit a picture.

Use the crunch as a graphic cue

The logo mark can repeat as a pattern. It must stay complete and recognisable.



PATTERN RULES

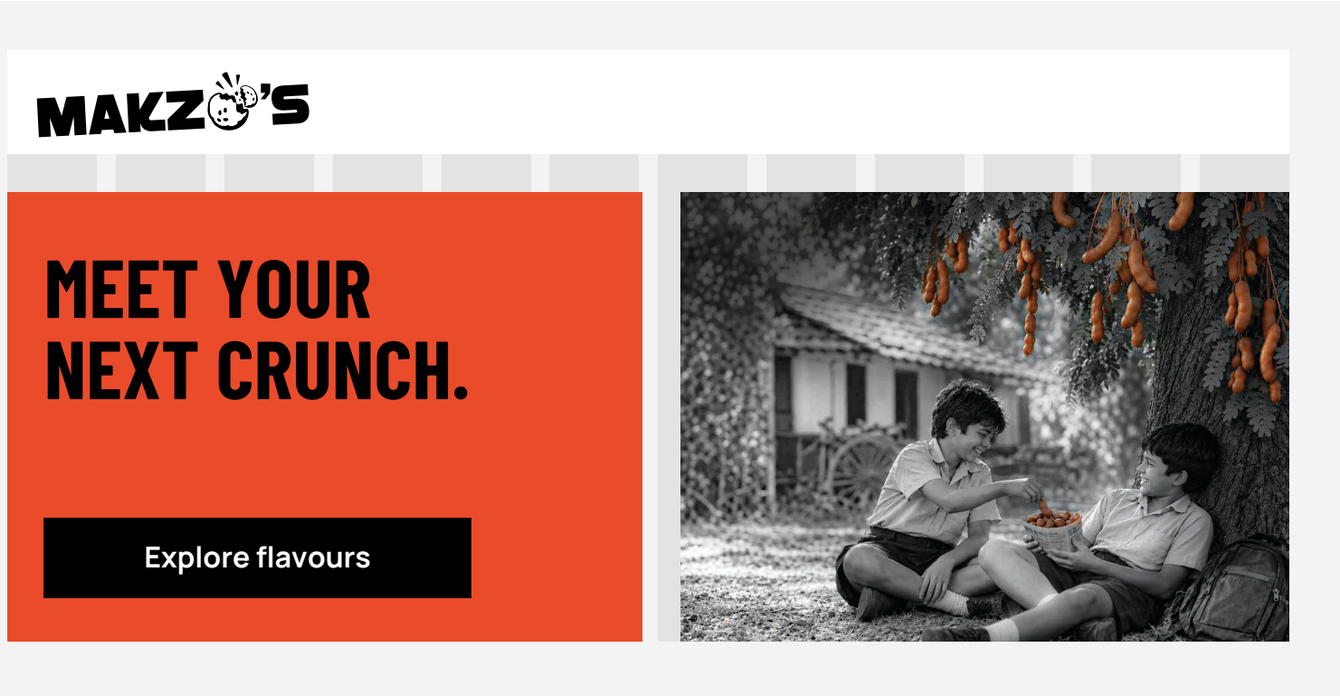
Use a single ink on a solid field. Keep a clear gap of at least half a mark width between repeats. Never put a pattern behind body copy.

Use simple utility icons for navigation. Keep stroke weight and corner style consistent. Do not turn decorative symbols into nutrition or certification badges.

The complete mark is the repeat unit. The bursts are not a separate replacement logo; do not invent extra fragments or redraw the makhana.

Build layouts from a simple grid

Space and alignment make the brand feel considered. Leave one clear focal point on each surface.



12-COLUMN DESKTOP EXAMPLE

An 8-unit rhythm

Use 8, 16, 24, 32 and 48 for spacing. Keep related items closer than unrelated ones.

Adapt to the surface

Start with 12 columns on desktop and 4 on mobile. Use a 5% outer safe area for social artwork.

One reading order

Brand, flavour or headline, supporting detail, action. Avoid multiple competing focal points.

One range, seven flavour stories

Supplied packaging artwork shown here records the current visual range.

TASTING OR EVENT SIGN

Prepare files people can produce

01

Colour

Use #EA4B2B in RGB files. For print, approve a process-specific CMYK or spot-colour match on the actual substrate and finish.

02

Artwork

Use vector logo masters for print. Keep an editable working file; embed or outline fonts only in the supplier handoff as requested.

03

Images

Target 300 ppi at final print size for continuous-tone imagery. Do not enlarge a low-resolution screenshot into a pack hero.

04

Dielines

Use the supplier's final dieline. Keep seams, zip areas, folds and mandatory information clear. Confirm bleed; 3 mm is a starting point, not a universal pack specification.

05

Proofs

Check the orange, small makhana holes, reversed details and black type on a physical proof. Matte film and lamination can alter appearance.

06

Handoff

Supply the printer's requested PDF standard and colour profile. Include trim, bleed and dieline instructions as agreed; never let template defaults decide.

Resolve these items before release

Use the brand guide for design now. Keep product-specific approvals attached to the final production file.

01	Pack weight	The brief says 50 g; supplied fronts say 55 g. Confirm the final SKU weight across pack, site and selling channels.
02	Flavour name	The brief uses Rasam Podi; supplied fronts use Rasam. Select the approved customer-facing name and use it consistently.
03	Launch hold	Chettinadu, Curry Leaves and Sweet Thai Chilli are on hold in the brief until NC-002 is closed. Prepare artwork; do not lead launch campaigns with them yet.
04	Claims and allergens	Vegetarian is pending confirmation. Confirm current claim approval and the correct SKU allergen and shared-line wording before release.
05	Production masters	Approve the orange print match, any pack typography revision, final dieline and supplier-ready artwork. Retain the exact logo geometry.

Brand owners in the brief: Mohit Nagpal and Ishika Jain, co-founders. Record the decision, owner, date and approved file version.

The one-minute brand check

☐ Logo

Correct supplied full logo or complete mark. Clear space and minimum size respected.

☐ Colour

Paprika #EA4B2B, black and white. Flavour colour serves the product, not a replacement brand identity.

☐ Type

Barlow Condensed 700 for display. Manrope for reading, labels and controls. Clear hierarchy.

☐ Image

Recognisable dish, believable scale and purposeful colour. Food stays visible in the final crop.

☐ Copy

Flavour first. Bold, warm and clear. No invented claims, quotes, heritage or availability.

☐ Release

Correct pack version, naming, weight, ingredients, allergens and launch status. Physical proof checked where needed.

Keep the brand consistent. Keep the product information true.

SURFACE

Paprika wrapping paper with the complete black makhana mark. A black belly band gives the full logo its own quiet area.

REPEAT

Start with a 20 mm-wide mark and at least 10 mm between marks. Keep orientation and scale consistent.

MATERIAL DIRECTION

Matte wrapping paper and a heavier paper band. Keep the wordmark on a broad, flat face, away from folds.

Photorealistic application concept.

A carry bag people recognise

FRONT

Paprika field, black full logo and the complete tagline. Keep the logo centred optically and clear of the handle drop.

SIDE

Black gusset with the Paprika mark only. Keep all fragments and burst strokes; do not add letters.

STARTING FORMAT

320 W x 380 H x 120 D mm. Matte paper with black rope handles; confirm the final supplier dieline.

Photorealistic application concept.

Make the everyday items feel like MAKZO'S

DIARY

ENVELOPE

White front with a black full logo; Paprika reverse with the standalone mark. Leave delivery and postal areas clear.

TYPE AND PAPER

Manrope 400 for letter copy, 600 for subjects; Barlow for short greeting headlines. Use uncoated stock for a tactile finish.

LETTERHEAD ZONES

Logo: 60 mm wide near the top left. Body: Manrope 11-12 pt, 1.45 line height. Footer: 9-10 pt; add only verified business details.

SMALL ITEMS

Use the full logo on a long pen barrel. If the print process cannot hold the small detail, choose a larger printable area or leave the barrel unbranded.

ENVELOPE FRONT

DL starting size: 220 x 110 mm. Keep artwork outside the address and postage zones. A greeting envelope may use the display treatment shown.

Zone shown for layout only; use the actual mailing requirements.

The social post has a repeatable structure

Brand master: 1080 x 1350 px / 4:5. The same hierarchy should survive a phone-sized preview.

01 BRAND ANCHOR

Place the full logo within a 6% outer margin. Keep its own clear space. A small avatar never replaces the logo in a campaign creative.

02 THE HEADLINE

Use Barlow Condensed 700 at 120-150 px on this master. Aim for 3-7 words with a deliberate line break.

03 THE FLAVOUR VISUAL

Show the correct dish, supplied story image or approved pack. Use a separate image panel when the headline needs a solid background.

04 SUPPORT AND ACTION

Subheads: Manrope 600 at 44-54 px. A short flavour heading may use Barlow 700. Brief support: Manrope 400/500 at 32-40 px. Keep one action.

Sizes are starting values for this brand master, not platform limits. Adjust line breaks before reducing type.

Adapt the idea to a vertical story

Brand master: 1080 x 1920 px / 9:16. Recompose the content instead of stretching the feed artwork.

LAYOUT STUDY

A COMFORTABLE CONTENT AREA

Headline: Barlow Condensed 700, 100-132 px. Subheading: Manrope 600, 44-56 px. Support: Manrope 400/500, 36-44 px.

ONE MESSAGE PER FRAME

Keep the dish name, headline and action together. Let the photo or approved pack carry the rest. Use a separate frame for ingredients or detailed explanations.

MOTION VERSION

If animated, bring in the headline, then the flavour visual, then the action. Keep the full logo stable and end on a frame people can read.

Dashed box is an internal planning guide, not an official platform safe-zone specification.

THE FIRST READ

The headline should register before the supporting line. The dish image and flavour name should remain recognisable at normal viewing size.

Build once. Adapt with intention.

Set up reusable brand masters with editable text and separate artwork layers.

MASTER	CANVAS	HEADING / BARLOW 700	SUPPORT / MANROPE	RULE
Portrait feed	1080 x 1350	120-150 px	32-54 px	6% margins
Square feed	1080 x 1080	104-132 px	32-48 px	Recompose
Vertical story	1080 x 1920	100-132 px	36-56 px	Preview UI
Carousel	1080 x 1350	Same as feed	Same as feed	Fixed anchors

FIXED IN EVERY MASTER

Full logo or approved mark use; Paprika, black and white; the two-font hierarchy; consistent outer margins; one clear message.

EDIT FOR EACH CAMPAIGN

Headline, approved flavour, image crop, support line and action. Keep SKU information and release status aligned with page 37.

EXPORT AND CHECK

Export screen artwork in sRGB. Open at phone size and check type, crop and spelling. Keep print art separate from visual mockups.

Application images on pages 45-48 and 54 are AI-generated visualisations based on the supplied logo and prepared artwork. Use vector masters for production.

NOTHING ARTIFICIAL.
NOTHING UNNECESSARY.
